DEDICATION

TO DR. ERIC V. SANDIN, director of the humanities division and professor of English, the class of 1950 dedicates this edition of the ARROW. In four years at Lycoming College, Dr. Sandin has won the friendship and admiration of students and faculty alike. He has had a definite influence in maintaining high standards at Lycoming.

Dr. Sandin's understanding and sense of humor have made him an inspirational teacher and a helpful adviser. In recognition of his many services to us, the graduating class of 1950 respectfully dedicates this yearbook to Dr. Sandin.

ADMINISTRATION

President's Message

Dear Students and Friends of Lycoming College

You are spending a great deal of time in gathering material and in putting together in attractive form the Arrow for 1949-50. It may be well to consider briefly what you are actually doing.

First, you are writing the history of Lycoming College during this period from the student's standpoint. This is valuable. Of course, you may use a little poetic license and not be too severe on our shortcomings, and put in the best possible light our virtues. Otherwise it will be a true account of Lycoming College as you know it.

This volume will increase in value to you through the years. When you are preparing for your 10th or 25th anniversary you will likely look up your Arrow and study again the faces and names of the members of your class and refresh your memory concerning certain events which have happened during your college life. In this way you will be studying history which you yourselves have made.

But mainly, as you refer to it, you will recall certain events and experiences that stand out in your memory and which may become more significant or precious as the "halo" of time gathers around them.

You are thus not recording bare history only. You are creating an album of memories which will become richer and more precious through the years. I trust you may succeed even better than you now think possible. From one who always wishes you well,

Faithfully yours,

Dean's Comment

We are lucky, indeed, here at Lycoming that no barriers separate faculty and students. The absence of such barriers makes possible a unique unity of purpose. During my initial interview with our President, it became apparent to me that he is alert to those purposes and functions of administration which stimulate the cooperative labors and thoughts of faculty and students. Programs of action which rest on foundations of co-operative collaboration are not only fortified against failure, but the spirit of mutual respect and confidence sets the stage for improvements and change towards effective growth and enlarged services.

No member of this graduating class needs to be told that the most intriguing subject in the world is his own future. No doubt he and his parents, teachers, and friends have given this subject a great deal of thought. It is our hope that your future will be identified with that of your beloved college. Your alma mater, with a bright and promising future, has a great deal to offer you after graduation even as she did during your undergraduate days.

As an alumnus of an experienced institution that has been graduating groups for more than one hundred years, you go forth armed with spiritual and physical resources that will strengthen you and enable you to live in a democratic pattern of society. We congratulate you upon your achievement.

Student Government Association

This year, more than any other year since it was founded in 1946, the Student Government Association was responsible for placing student representatives in positions where they could take a real part in planning college activities. The association appointed students to meet with faculty, administration, and alumni committees on college projects throughout the year.

Through the Student Government Association, students had a hand in scheduling and keeping a calendar of all campus events, and in planning assembly and chapel programs, Artist and Lecture Series presentations, and the Greater Evening Banquet.

This year, for the first time, the Student Government Association sent a representative to meetings of the College Alumni Council.

Paul E. Arney, one of the eight students who founded the Association, was elected president for the 1949-50 term.

Serving with Arney as officers of the association were the following: Charles Edwards, first vice president, George Bellak, second vice president, Frances Wood, secretary, and Thomas Bellew, treasurer.

Inter-Fraternity Council

The Inter-fraternity Council was organized in 1948, to be the governing board for all the fraternities on the campus of Lycoming College.

The council is the representative body of the five campus fraternities. With the aid of its faculty adviser, Oliver E. Harris, associate professor of psychology, the Inter-fraternity Council has become recognized as a dominant force on the campus.

The purpose of the Greek letter governing body is to weld the fraternities into a co-operative group and to promote an altruistic spirit among the fraternities.

During this year the council established pledge periods, hazing regulations, and principles necessary to fraternity work. The council also served as a clearing point for social activities of its members.

For the 1949-50 term the delegates elected William King, president, Gordon Allison, vice president, and Jack Faust, secretary-treasurer.

Student Council

The Student Council was organized in February, 1949, for the primary purpose of promoting consideration of students toward each other on the campus.

The council has been functioning under the approval of the Faculty Council and Dr. John W. Long, College president.

Donald J. Felix, dean of men, is adviser to the group. Meetings are held in his apartment in Old Main each Tuesday evening.

The members of the Council represent students from each building and floor of the dormitories on the campus, and day students.

Officers are elected annually by the members of the Council. Those who served this year were: Burr L. Sweet, president, and Clyde J. Shellman, secretary.

The Student Council, functioning under a constitution written and approved this year, has acted as a disciplinary body.

Women's Dayroom Council

The Dayroom Council was organized this year under the direction of Miss Florence E. Dewey, Dean of Women, for the purpose of bringing the women day students together into a cooperative group and to encourage school spirit.

The day women convened each month to discuss problems and to plan future events. They elected, on the basis of class and scholarship, the following officers: Marjorie Bender, president; Frances Toohey, vice president; Eleanor Miller, secretary; Sue Whitehead, treasurer, and Peggy Derone, freshman representative. Their principal duty was to serve as a general intermediary body between the college administration and the women day students.

As a special project for this year the day women sponsored dances following the basketball games on the weekends, beginning with a Christmas dance. Veda Fischer was refreshment chairman and Jane Montgomery was entertainment chairman for this dance, aided by the other day student women and the officers of the Council.

It is the hope of the day women that in the future their activities will be considered a real asset to the college, not only in matters pertaining to social life but also in matters of scholarship and school spirit.

Neff, Simmons, Ferrell, Salmon, Graham

Women's Dormitory Association

Under the leadership of its officers and the guidance of Miss Florence Dewey, Dean of Women, the Women's Student Government Association of the Dormitory enjoyed a busy and pleasant year.

House meetings were held every Monday evening at which time problems and coming events were discussed.

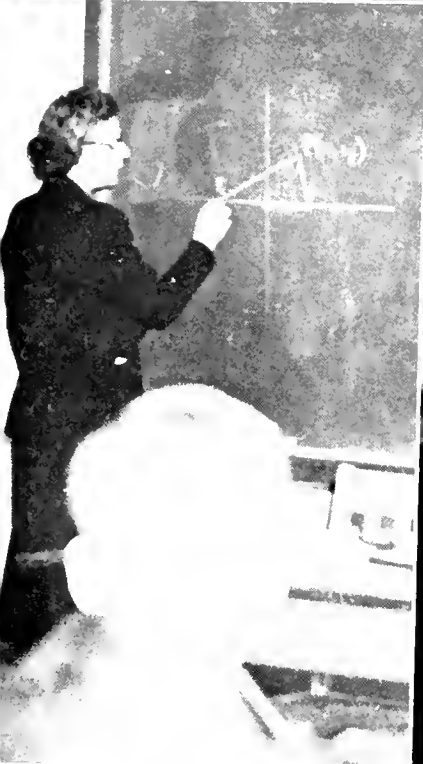

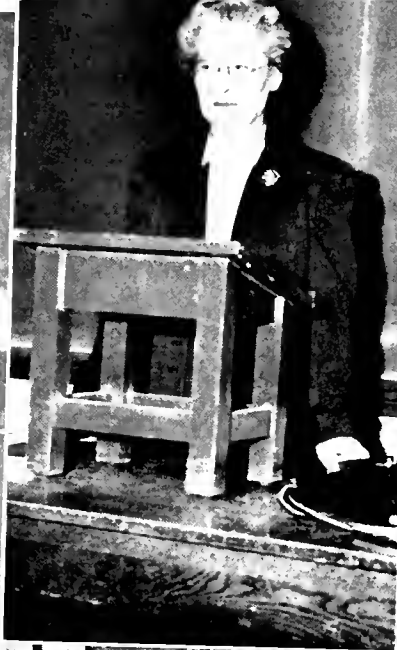

One of the first meetings of the year witnessed the election of officers. Those elected were: Marjorie Ferrell, president, Marilyn Simmons, vice president; Betsy Salmon, secretary, Layne Neff, treasurer, and Nancy Graham, freshman representative. These girls composed the dormitory council and judicial body of the organization.

The calendar of activities included a number of teas, the first of which was sponsored by the upper classmen. The highlight of the first semester was the Christmas tea which was followed by a Christmas party. An Easter tea highlighted the activities of the second semester. These events were interspersed with dances held in the girl's day room after dinner on week nights.

Through the Women's Dormitory Association, the women numbering about seventy, became a closely knit group which enjoyed a friendly year in a family-like atmosphere.

Junior Class History

The 1950 Junior Class points with pride to its contributions to the rapid growth of its school as a four year college.

After a vigorous campaign the class election results showed a decisive victory for the Liberty party candidates. The officers were Herbert Drescher, president; William Abbey, vice president; Frances Toohey, secretary, and Jackie Sullivan, treasurer.

The election of Charles Edwards and George Bellak to the offices of first vice president and second vice president respectively to the Student Government Association added distinction to the class.

Further prestige was afforded through the participation of its members in the field of sports. Jack Sowers and Jim Brodmerkel excelled on the basketball court, while on the gridiron the Juniors point with pride to the achievements of George Bellak, Jim Gore, and George Smith.

Joe Wool of the Zeta Delta Kappa and LeRoy Edwards of the Zeta Tau Beta were elected president of their respective fraternities.

Sophomore Class History

Full of ambition and renewed vitality, the sophomores returned to the reservation in the fall ready to initiate the younger braves into the Lycoming tribe. This ceremony took place with much excitement for all and thus the activities for the year were launched.

The next big event for the sophomores was the class elections. After a hard fought race, Richard Buckwalter was elected president; Jane Montgomery, vice president; Jean Davies, secretary, and Ned Miller, treasurer.

Thomas Bellew had been elected treasurer of the Student Government Association in the Spring of 1949. Just before mid-semester examinations, Helen Troisi was appointed editor of the Courier. In the field of sports, the class of '52 is not lacking in honor. William Graff starred on the basketball team; Bud Rousseau on the swimming team, and Marjorie Mitchell was very active in basketball and in the Women's Athletic Association.

A Sweetheart Ball held in February was so successful that it may become an annual occasion. All in all, the pioneer class of Lycoming College has spent a very pleasant two years on this reservation.

Freshman Class History

Under the leadership of the officers and through the prevailing spirit of cooperation the Freshman Class enjoyed a successful first year on the Lycoming College campus.

When at last the air cleared following a hectic class election those chosen to lead the class were: Kenneth Erickson, president; William Fink, vice president; Sue Allen, secretary, and Mardell Wagner, treasurer. Barbara Holzka and Jay House were elected representatives to the Student Government Association.

Members of the class entered enthusiastically into the various activities on campus. Mary Jane Rush and Bill Wendell led the cheers; Don Mosher was an alert boy on the basketball court; Merle Davis and Jerry Englert were tough competition on the gridiron, and as officers of the various clubs there were Joan Danneker, secretary of the German Club; Judy Cohen, secretary of the Spanish Club, and Eddie Au, secretary of the French Club. Nor was the Freshman Class without its beauties, for when the nominations for Homecoming Queen were made, Joan Danneker, Peggy Singley, Joan Jordan, and Anne Fahringer were among those chosen to represent various organizations.

The Arrow

The staff of the 1950 Arrow, under the guidance of John P. Graham, faculty adviser, started in the usual manner in October with many new ideas and the usual thought in mind of improving on the works of their predecessors.

The goal of the annual, as set forth on the title page, is to give you Lycoming College as you have seen it in the past year.

The effort in general has been toward producing a more inclusive volume than ever before. An earnest attempt was made to incorporate the whole student program into the work. This expression has been through the medium of pictures wherever possible.

A new type of divider page has allowed an extensive use of candid camera shots which the editors believe furnish the most accurate and interesting account of life at Lycoming. Many pages were added to sports, and such important days as "Yats Iscool," "Homecoming," and "Sadie Hawkins" were given thorough coverage.

It is hoped that the Arrow has not passed you by and that in future years it will be the source of much pleasure to you.

Lycoming Courier

The light in the Courier office burned into the wee hours of the morning many times this year as editors and reporters worked up to deadline dates. That's the kind of work it took to turn out fifteen issues of the campus bi-weekly newspaper. The compensation lay in seeing a bright, newsy eight page tabloid emerge from a mound of typewritten and much edited copy.

In its third year of publication, the Courier is the successor of the literary magazine "Dickinson Union" established on the campus in 1898 when the college was known as Dickinson Seminary.

Ben L. Thompson was editor in chief for the first half of the 1949-50 term and Helen L. Troisi took over in January.

The editorial and business staffs had as their advisers Dr. Eric V. Sandin, professor of English, and Robert G. Wharton, college business manager.

Many colorful stories brightened the pages of the Courier this year. They included well written features on campus personalities, thorough coverage of club news, and editorials encouraging campus improvements and school spirit.

Theta Pi Pi

The Theta Pi Pi Fraternity, established in 1896, has the distinction of being the oldest fraternal organization on the campus of Lycoming College.

Founded upon the principles of cooperation and brotherly love, Theta Pi Pi has long been the leader among college organizations in the state of Pennsylvania.

The Alpha Chapter at Lycoming College is the only remaining chapter of five. The Theta's boast 750 alumni. This number includes such men as Robert F. Rich and Harry Stenger, who have contributed in furthering the fraternity's cause.

During this year, Richard W. Wold wrote a new song dedicated to Miss Gloria Ness, the fraternity sweetheart.

The fraternity elected the following officers: William King, president; George Terrat, secretary; William Weaver, chaplain, and Gilbert F. Hill, sergeant-at-arms.

Zeta Delta Kappa

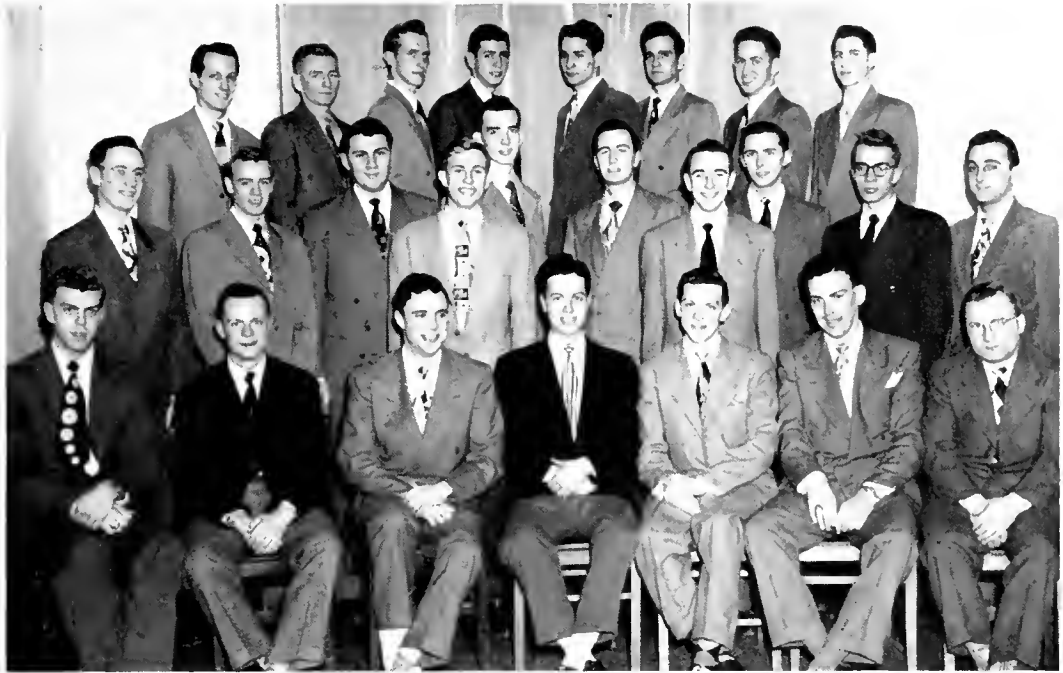

The Zeta Delta Kappa Fraternity was organized in the Spring of 1947, as the result of the work of its eight charter members and faculty adviser, John P. Graham. The founders chose knowledge, constancy, and brotherly love as the cornerstones.

Yats Escol Day, which originated from the fraternity's attempt to arouse school spirit, has now become a tradition at Excoming College. This event always takes place on the eve of Homecoming Day. James Marcinek portrayed his original role of Yats Escol again this year.

The welfare program of the fraternity included aiding the needy in Williamsport at Christmas and sending two underprivileged children to a summer camp.

At Christmas, the Snow Ball highlighted this year's social events which also included the annual Founder's Day Dinner dance, pledge parties, and informal parties for members and their guests.

Lambda Phi Delta

Lambda Phi Delta was organized March 2, 1948, by thirteen charter members who pledged fidelity to Lycoming College.

This year the college administration granted the fraternity the use of Franklin Street Dormitory as a fraternity house. Thus Lambda Phi Delta claims the distinction of being the first fraternity on campus to live in a fraternity house.

In addition to its social activities, the fraternity has displayed initiative by assisting charitable drives of the Salvation Army, March of Dimes, American Red Cross, and the American Cancer Society.

The fraternity aims for the development of mental, social, physical, and spiritual brotherhood among its members. The ritual extolls the virtues of tolerance and understanding as social basis for the greater civilization of mankind.

The officers for 1949-50 are: Bruce Crissy, president; Alan Oehrig, vice president; Barton Kramer, secretary; William Mitchell, treasurer; Clyde Shellman, sergeant-at-arms; Wilson Wheeler, chaplain, and John Skoog, corresponding secretary.

Zeta Tau Beta

The Zeta Tau Beta, honorary business fraternity, was organized in May, 1948, at Lycoming College. It is the only professional fraternity on the campus.

The aim of the fraternity is to instill so firmly into its members "success through cooperation" that after graduation they will continue to exemplify this ideal.

Honorary members of the Zeta Tau Beta are: Leo C. Williamson, mayor of Williamsport, the Reverend C. Herbert Picht, college chaplain, Harold L. Hinkleman, assistant professor of accounting; Robert G. Wharton, Jr., college business manager; LeRoy Edwards, Sr., local alderman, and Spencer W. Hill, attorney at law.

During the year the fraternity sponsored the second annual Harvest Ball and held parties and outings for its members.

The officers of the past year were LeRoy Edwards, Jr., president; Robert Schrader, vice president, Anthony Overdurf, treasurer, and Robert Moyer, secretary. Other positions were held by Chris Chua, sergeant at arms; the Reverend C. Herbert Picht, chaplain, and John A. Streeter, faculty adviser.

Chi Rho Pi

The Chi Rho Pi, the school's youngest social fraternity, was established in the Fall of 1949. The fraternity was formulated upon plans laid by Gerald Clark, Charles Edwards, and John Hackenberry.

The fraternal aim of the organization is "to bring fraternities and school activities closer together and to endeavor to bring about a greater feeling of unity between the students and the faculty."

The social activities of the Chi Rho Pi were highlighted by pledge parties, fraternity get-togethers, and the annual fraternity dance.

Its advisory board is composed of John Breen, Willis Dice, Don L. Farrabee, Joseph Lecce, James W. Sterling, and the Reverend Mr. Van Beeman.

For its leaders during the 1949-50 term, the members of Chi Rho Pi elected Matthew Cendoma, president; John Fourney, vice president; James Askins, secretary; Robert Eaker, treasurer; Harold Ader, sergeant-at-arms; James Mathers, chaplain, and Donald McKernan, historian.

Delta Psi Omega

The spring of 1950 saw the reinstatement of Delta Psi Omega at Lycoming College. This dramatic Fraternity is the largest honor society in college dramatics in the country. It boasts a membership of nearly two hundred chapters with national headquarters located in Fairmont, West Virginia.

The Fraternity had been inactive on the Lycoming campus since the pre war days of curtailment of many extra curricular activities. With its renewal, it is hoped that the main purpose of the Fraternity may be expounded.

Briefly stated the aims of the Fraternity are to stimulate interest in dramatic activities, to secure for the college all the advantages of a large national honorary Fraternity, and by electing worthy students to membership, serve as a reward for their efforts in participating in the plays staged by the Trill and Crown Dramatic Club.

As soon as Lycoming is officially approved as a four-year degree granting college the Delta chapter automatically becomes an Alpha chapter. When this occurs all former students and graduates of the college who were members of the Delta chapter become members of the Alpha chapter, thereby guaranteeing a close knit organization.

Seated—Babcock, Koons, Frownfelter, Hinkelman, Bender.

Dramatic Club

The Frill and Frown Dramatic Club, a haven for budding thespians on Campus, has closed the curtain on another big year. Under the capable direction of Miss Louise Frownfelter, faculty adviser to the organization, Frill and Frown presented two three-act and several one-act dramas.

Frill and Frown's presentation of Elsa Shelley's "Foxhole in the Parlor," in which Richard Hinkelman and Jeannette Confer co-starred, highlighted the group's fall activities.

Others in the cast were William A. Mortimer, Teresa Sullivan, Jack Goldsmith, Frances Toohey, and Harold Heffer. Elmer Koons, Richard Ulman, and Richard Dickson collaborated in the design and construction of the elaborate stage set.

Two Christmas plays, "They That Sit in Darkness" and "A Sign Unto You," were presented in addition to the club's major productions.

Besides qualifying for membership in Delta Psi Omega, a national dramatic fraternity, the dramatic club became a charter member of the Eastern Pennsylvania College Theatre and Radio Conference.

Officers of Frill and Frown were Richard Hinkelman, president; Elmer Koons, vice president; Marjorie Bender, secretary, and Josephine Babcock, treasurer.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club, affiliated with the Carnegie Peace Foundation, was organized to promote a better understanding of nations and their people.

The club was represented in November at the Middle Atlantic States Regional Convention at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., by Matthew Cendoma and Robert Laker. A tour of the United Nations at New York City was conducted in March. The annual banquet was held in December at the Village Tea Room.

Dr. Mary Elizabeth Stewart, assistant professor of history, was adviser to the club this year, and Eugene Schramm was elected president. Vice president, Robert Laker, and the club executive committee, chose and planned all programs. Other officers were, Harold Barto, secretary, and Virginia Herlt, treasurer.

Psychology Club

Since its beginning in the autumn of 1948, the Psychology Club has drawn from a wide variety of sources to bring the members educational and entertaining programs. Movies, guest-speakers, field trips, panel discussions, and illustrated lectures were introduced as regular functions of the semi-monthly meetings.

The Psychology Club was organized to bring students of psychology together to develop more fully their common interests.

The members also cooperated with Mr. Oliver Harris, Club adviser, in securing and constructing equipment for a planned psychological laboratory.

Officers elected to guide the club for the 1949-50 term were Richard Hinebaugh, re-elected president; Reginald Wheatley, vice-president; Shirley Williams, secretary; Max Mintz, treasurer; Earl Guyer and William Howells, program chairmen, and Veda Fisher, refreshment chairman.

The diversified activities of the organization contributed greatly to the knowledge of psychology by illustrating the application of the subject matter in all phases of life. These combined factors made the Psychology Club one of the most active organizations on campus.

Ski Club

The Lycoming College Ski Club, in its four years as a campus organization, proved a boon to winter sports enthusiasts. The club gave instruction to both amateur and more proficient skiers through the use of special motion pictures, lectures, and actual training on the ski slopes.

The members of the organization spent several enjoyable weekends at the Wellsboro and Muncy ski resorts.

To round out the season's activities, ice skating and social events were added to the club's original program of skiing.

Richard Dickson was elected president of the organization for the second consecutive year. Jack Deitz served as vice president and Marjorie Bender was re-elected to the office of secretary-treasurer. Fred Liene filled a newly established post as audio-visual chairman.

The Ski Club closed its activities with a banquet held at the Texas and Blockhouse Hunting and Fishing Lodge.

Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club, organized in 1947 for the purpose of providing relaxation and entertainment for Lycoming's Episcopal students and their friends, meets at the Christ Episcopal church, at the corner of Mulberry and Fourth Streets, each Sunday evening.

The Reverend Canon G. Francis Burrill, rector of the parish, is the clergy adviser. Faculty advisers are Dr. and Mrs. Eric V. Sandin. The student officers are: Donald Adams, president; Marilyn Simmons, secretary, and Sam McDonald, treasurer.

As members of a national organization, chapters such as the one at Lycoming are found on the majority of college campuses throughout the United States.

Lutheran Students Association

The Lutheran Students Association was organized to give Lutheran students on the campus a common interest in their religious activities. The Rev. Robert E. Neumeier, Pastor Bob, as he is known to members, is the clergy adviser.

The local group is affiliated with the Lutheran Students Association of America, a division of student service of the National Lutheran Council.

Semi monthly meetings were held in the parish house of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Williamsport. Several meetings were in form of suppers for which members prepared the meals and did the work. Speakers included college professors and local Lutheran ministers.

Officers for the year were: Harvey Hartman, president; Bruce Deckard, vice president; Laurel Sevebeck, secretary, and Charles Heiney, treasurer.

Gervylas Simatitis, a displaced person from Lithuania, was brought to the campus to continue his education beginning with the February semester. A second displaced person will enroll in the autumn. Both were sponsored by the local Lutheran Students Association through cooperation with the Lutheran World Action. Scholarships were granted to both students by the college.

John Wesley Club

The members of the John Wesley Club were organized to promote a Christian influence on the campus and to prepare themselves more adequately for their future work in full-time Christian service. Their theme for the year was "Christian Fellowship."

Regular meetings of the John Wesley Club were held the first and third Thursday evenings of each month. Guest speakers brought to the attention of the members many helpful ideas and a worship service was held during the regular meetings.

The officers elected for the school year 1949-50 were as follows: Burt Sweet, president; Stanton Winder, vice president; Harold Ammons, secretary; Thomas Subock, treasurer; Donald Ripple, program chairman; Reginald Wheatley, publicity chairman, and Lynn Brooks, representative to the Student Government Association. The Rev. Clair J. Switzer was counselor.

A class sponsored by the club gave students working for local preachers' licenses instruction books which were required for study. Several members of the club did social work at the Bethune-Douglass Center of Williamsport. Others were engaged in other Christian work on and off the campus.

A Christmas Banquet was held again this year at the Turkey Farm.

Student Christian Association

Promotion of the Christian way of life is the purpose of the Student Christian Association. It offers every student the opportunity to enjoy Christian fellowship and to apply the Christian teachings to everyday life.

Harold Ammons and Reginald Wheatley were elected co-presidents of the group this year, assisted by Richard Hinkelman, vice president; Shirley Williams, secretary, and Ann Achard, treasurer. The Reverend C. Herbert Picht, college chaplain, was adviser.

Many special projects were planned throughout the year. A group of upper classmen returned to the campus during Freshmen Orientation Week to arrange an "Ice Breaker" party for the new students. Fireside Vesper services featuring student panels, speakers, deputation work, and special holiday programs were held each Sunday evening on campus.

To aid in obtaining funds for the World Student Service Fund, the S. C. A. sponsored "Sadie Hawkins' Day" in November and a special drive in January.

The association was represented at regional, state, and national conferences of the Methodist Student Movement and the Student Christian Movement. Several of the members helped at the Bethune Douglass Center in Williamsport, and the students sponsored a blood bank for needy persons in the community.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club was formed in November of 1949 by an enterprising group of young athletes headed by Harold S. Hurwitz and with the advice of Ned Sweitzer, assistant professor of psychology.

The aims of the club are to promote better inter-collegiate athletes at Lycoming College and to help finance worthy athletes through the college.

In order to promote school spirit a number of comic skits were presented at half-time of sports events. Gold basketballs, gold footballs, and sweaters were awarded to those athletes who were qualified according to club specifications to receive them.

Club members selected to serve as officers were: George Smith, president; Alton Carlson, vice president; James Brodmerkel, secretary; Paul Shadle, treasurer; James Keller, chaplain; Edward Fagan, sergeant-at-arms, and George Bellak, corresponding secretary.

The Varsity Club had a very successful first year which was highlighted by a banquet held in the spring.

Women's Athletic Association

With increasing demand by the women students of Lycoming College, a Women's Athletic Association was officially formed this year.

A specified number of points were awarded for participation in various events. Those who obtained the highest scores were awarded emblems and letters. Some of the sport events included bowling, badminton, basketball, swimming, and baseball.

The first officers to be chosen for the Women's Athletic Association were Joann Stabley, president; Marjorie Mitchell, vice-president; Jacqueline Brouse, secretary; Sue Whitehead, treasurer; Sue Allen, publicity chairman; Marjorie Ferrell, social chairman, and Eleanor Miller and Dorothy Wenger, inter-group managers. Mrs. Donald J. Felix, instructor of physical education, advised the group.

In March, women of Bucknell University, Susquehanna University, and Pennsylvania State College were guests for a Sports Day held in the gymnasium. The Women's Athletic Association of Lycoming also attended a Sports Day held at Pennsylvania State College in February.

In an organization of this nature the participants not only enjoy good times together in healthy, invigorating exercise, but make many new friends from other colleges.

French Club

The French Club was the first modern language club on the campus. It was organized in 1946 by Roger E. Cogswell, instructor in French, to stimulate interest in French civilization and to assist students in gaining command of the language.

This year the members devised a new system of officers by which a president, vice president from each French class, two secretaries and two treasurers were elected. The vice presidents were responsible for keeping their classes informed about club meetings and special programs. Louis Bell was chosen president; Nancy Noah and Clara Blaker, secretaries, and Edward Au and Gordon Gillette, treasurers. Joan Rombro, Richard Rombro, Josephine Babcock, Catherine Wardner, and Hope McAllister served as vice presidents. Anne Gateley was publicity director.

Besides sponsoring many short films this year, the French Club took the initiative in presenting such full-length pictures as "Pasteur" and "Volpone."

Bi-monthly club meetings featured lectures by faculty members who had recently traveled to Canada and abroad, including Dr. Helen B. Weidman, Dr. Mary E. Stewart, Miss Gloria F. Rebecchi, and J. Milnor Dorey.

The spring banquet climaxed the social events of the year.

German Club

The German Club, organized to encourage the study of the German language and culture, continued this year under the able leadership of Phil G. Gillette, associate professor of Spanish. Highlighting the club's activities were lectures on Germany, a Christmas broadcast, and a German movie.

The club chose the following officers: Fred Hill, president; Sue Montgomery, vice president; Joan Danneker, secretary; and George Neal, treasurer. Joan Danneker represented the German Club's candidate for Homecoming Queen.

Mrs. Anna Marie Frank, of Bayreuth, Germany, spoke to the German Club about the Wagnerian festival and Christmas customs in Germany. Other programs included German song tests, voice recording sessions, and listening to records of The Student Prince.

In cooperation with the other campus language groups, the members of the German Club contributed to the fund for the purchase of a disk recorder.

The last social event of the German Club for the school year was a banquet held in the spring.

Spanish Club

A variety of interesting programs made the 1949-50 term a satisfying one for the members of the Spanish Club. Spanish movies and a Christmas broadcast and tableau highlighted the club events of the year.

Serving as officers for the club were Nancy Hall, president; Jack Peril, vice-president; Judy A. Cohen, secretary, and Charles Kocian, treasurer. Gloria F. Rebecchi, instructor in French and Spanish, acted as adviser. The club selected Nancy Fry as queen for the Homecoming festivities.

Among the programs held by the organization were a Latin Rhythm Platter Party, voice recording sessions, and informal talks on Mexico and Venezuela. Miss Frances E. Knights, assistant professor of mathematics, presented an illustrated lecture based on her tour of Mexico during the previous summer.

The presentation of a Spanish play and the spring banquet concluded activities for the year.

MEMORIAL HALL

Lycoming College Choirs

The choirs of Lycoming College, all under the direction of Walter G. Melve, associate professor of music, continue to play an increasingly important role in the life of the college.

The forty-five voiced a cappella choir was selected by competitive auditions from among the entire student body. Not more than five of the members were music majors; the majority ran the gamut from engineering students to scientists, mathematicians, laboratory technicians, and liberal arts students. Further proof of the musicianship of the group and its director.

During the highly successful season just completed, this singing organization has appeared before more than forty audiences throughout Pennsylvania and surrounding states. After each appearance they have been acclaimed generally as one of the outstanding choral groups in the eastern area of the country. Not only is the choir near-famous for musicianship, but the members are "easy to look at" in their beautiful navy blue vestments, trimmed in gold satin.

Lycoming College Choirs

The a cappella choir prepares two complete concert programs each year. Their repertoire this year included the best of Christmas, early polyphonic, modern, and folksong materials. The appreciative audiences which have greeted the choir are proof that their appearances have added to the prestige of the college.

Assisting Mr. McIver this year were Al Mortimer, student manager; Carolyn Martin, historian, and Lois Derr, student director.

The Lycoming Singers is a harmonically balanced group of fifteen students chosen from the a cappella choir to represent the college at meetings of community organizations and in radio broadcasting. They also sang in assembly programs this year.

The College Choir is open to all persons in the student body who enjoy group singing. Membership in the organization gives students the opportunity to become acquainted with some of the major choral works of the great composers. Notable and highly commendable performances of Handel's "The Messiah" and Mendelssohn's "Elijah" were presented during the past season.

College Band

From a humble beginning this year the college band grew to an active organization of thirty eight members including both men and women.

A brief recapitulation of the activities of this ambitious group will call to mind their part in the athletic program of the school. During football season the band acted as a uniformed marching unit, performing at all home games and at one away game. Contributing in no small way to the enjoyment of a very successful basketball season was a composite group extracted from the band. They played for all home games of the Warriors on the basketball court of the college gymnasium.

At the conclusion of the school year the band listed in its repertoire the works of many of the masters. They provided music for chapel programs, at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter. The spring concert, in which the band was part of the all instrumental program, highlighted their activities this year.

The officers of the musical organization were Edward Smead, III, president; Carolyn Martin, secretary, Richard Robinson, publicity chairman, and Burt Sweet, student director. The faculty director of the band is James W. Sheaffer, instructor in music.

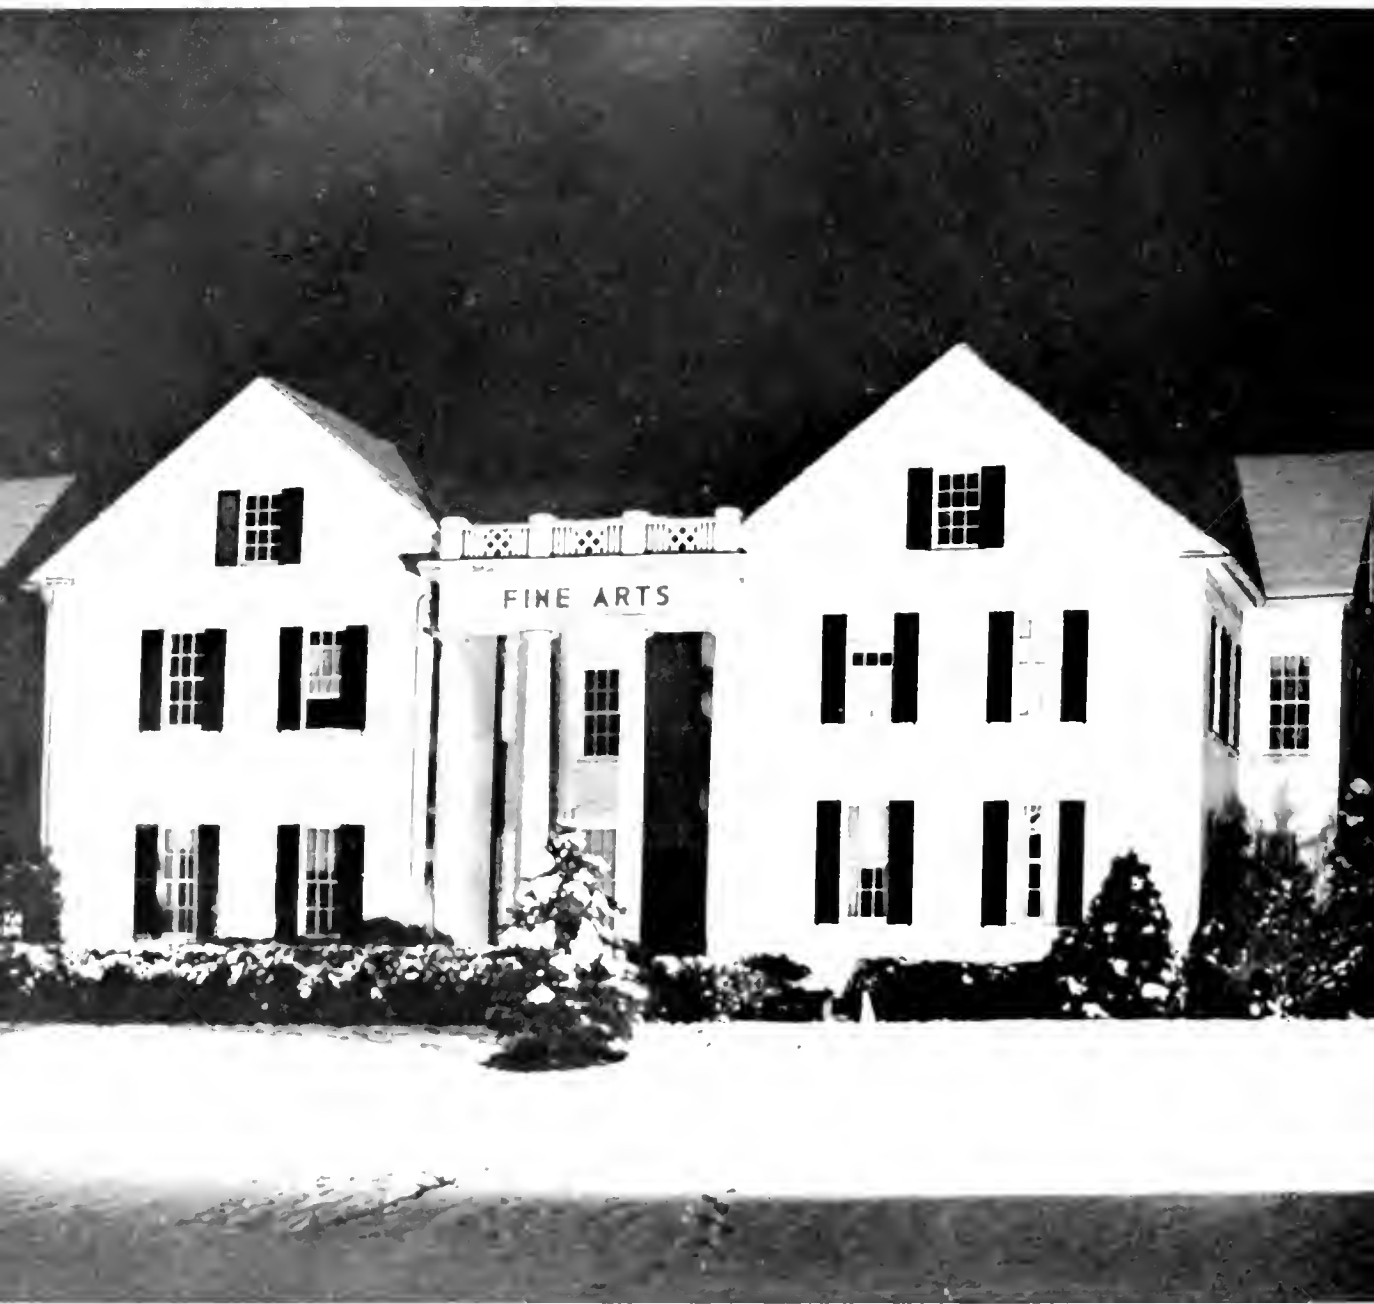

College Orchestra

Although the College Orchestra is still in early stages of development, it has made tremendous strides toward the aspirations its director, James W. Sheaffer, instructor in music, has envisioned for it. As it stands now the orchestra needs the addition of more string performers to achieve a better balance.

The orchestra rehearses twice a week in the instrumental room in the gymnasium building a repertoire which includes the works of classic, romantic, and contemporary composers. During the past year they provided music for assemblies and other campus activities, and they shared the stage with the band and instrumental soloists in the spring instrumental concert.

Seats in the College Orchestra are open to everyone. It is hoped that in the future more persons will avail themselves of the opportunity to contribute to the musical life of their fellow students and friends.

SPORTS

On Looking Back

In a campaign of six games, the football aggregation of Lycoming College performed to the best of its ability through a schedule of capable foes. It was a season of hard knocks, as witnessed by the Warriors lone victory, but they fought every contest to its ultimate and often disappointing end. However, these football representatives were developing and gaining experience through the season just as the college itself was going through its growing pains. Both tendencies were toward achievement; both were suppressed at times, but they were striving toward a commendable goal. The immediate results are not always successful or praiseworthy; however, we must extend to our team and coach the same amount of patience as they displayed in practice and competition. To the hard working members of the squad, the young and striving coach, and to those connected directly or indirectly with the team, we extend our congratulations.

SUSQUEHANNA 34 - LYCOMING 6

Lycoming College, playing its opening game of the season, fell victim to a rebounding Susquehanna eleven which gained its initial victory 34-6.

Alonzo Stagg's Crusaders scored two touchdowns before the Warriors of Lycoming retaliated on a Bellak to Hamm 50 yard pass play. The half time score favored the Crusaders 13-6.

Susquehanna's three touchdowns in the second half clinched matters for the scrappy Stagg eleven which rolled over the weary Warrior team.

KINGS 6 - LYCOMING 0

In a closely fought contest, Lycoming College was defeated by Kings College of Wilkes Barre on a last quarter score.

Previous to this tally, Coach Baer's Warriors had stopped three King's drives before Zaleskas of Kings scored on a five yard dash.

Lycoming's drives were stopped short as Fullback George Smith, substituting for ailing George Bellak, carried the ball for 108 yards.

The game ended on the Kings 13 yard line as Wilhelm and Smith passes connected in the final minutes of play.

LYCOMING 6 — BROCKPORT S. T. C. 0

Before a home-coming crowd of more than 1,000, Lycoming College broke an 11-game losing streak in turning back the favored Brockport (N. Y.) Teachers 6-0.

The Brockport aggregation stopped four Warrior thrusts within its 20 yard line before giving up the deciding score in the final minutes of play.

Following a Brockport punt, Bellak heaved a 19 yard aerial to Maltby from the Brockport 37 yard line. From the spread formation, Bellak on third down, broke through right tackle, cut to the sidelines, and raced 18 yards to paydirt.

WILKES 64 — LYCOMING 6

A strong Wilkes eleven exploded in the latter part of the second quarter to romp over a fighting but outclassed Lycoming College team 64-6.

For a period and a half Lycoming's Warriors were in the game as a heavily favored Wilkes team held a 7-6 lead. After a first period Wilkes score, a 72 yard Lycoming drive netted a score as Bellak tallied.

A series of Lycoming miscues and injuries hurt Lycoming's chances halfway through the second quarter, and they never recovered as Wilkes scored nine more touchdowns.

A crowd of 4,000 watched Lycoming become the fifth victim of a good, unbeaten Wilkes eleven.

BLOOMSBURG 48 — LYCOMING 0

The huskies of Bloomsburg State Teachers College enjoying one of their best seasons, scored at will as they pounded out an easy 48-0 win over an undermanned Lycoming College team.

The Warriors of Lycoming were never in the contest as the teachers poured seven tallies across the goal line and left the impression they could have scored more.

The crippled Warriors were simply no match for the heavier and well manned Bloomsburg eleven.

NATIONAL AGRICULTURE COLLEGE 13 — LYCOMING 7

The Warriors of Lycoming College playing their last game of the season, scored in the first period of play, but failed to hold their edge as the National Aggies scored twice for the 13-7 victory.

Lycoming scored early in the first period as a result of a Metherell Stanley recovery of an Aggies fumble on the Aggies 25 yard line. Manville dashed the last 22 yards for the tally, and Heilman converted for a 7-0 Warrior lead.

The Aggies tied it up in the second quarter and went ahead in the final period as Kershoff of the Aggies blocked a Lycoming punt. The Aggies scored two plays later for the winning score.

GYMNASIUM

BASKETBALL

A Successful Season

Taking into consideration last year's record, the improved caliber of this season's opponents, plus a long list of injuries, we realize that Lycoming's basketball quintet of the 1949-50 season enjoyed a very successful season. Bob Smith's cagemen piled up a record of eleven victories against nine games on the debit side of the ledger. Most of the losses were of the heart-breaking variety. Possibly as many as six of the losses could have been turned into victories, which would have meant a phenomenal season, but the loss of key men because of injuries did not bring the cherished results.

The high point of the season was the home game with Kings College which ended in a victory for the locals by a 68 to 67 score.

The type of basketball performed by the Lycoming quintet this season was exemplified by the followers of the team, who were behind the boys all season. The only reaction to such a thrilling season is praise for a wonderful team and a fine coach.

The Future Aspirants

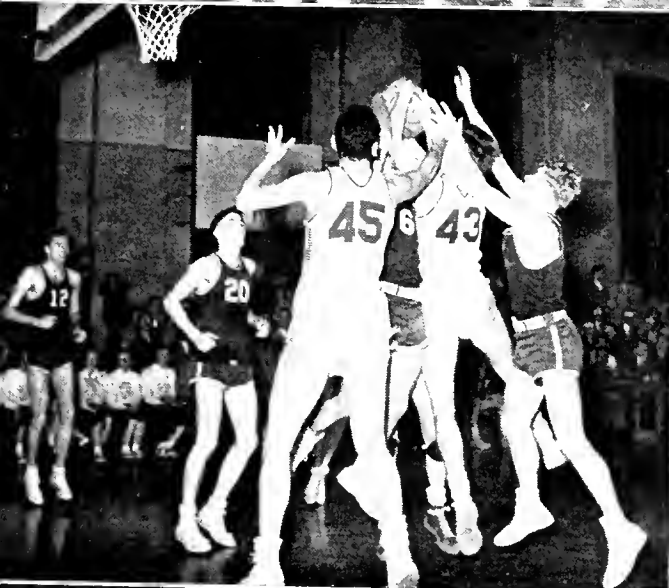

Although Lycoming's junior varsity basketball squad were victors of only four contests out of the eighteen games, close followers of the sport, who witnessed the action-packed contests throughout the season, are agreed that potential varsity talent was in the making. Interest and concern with individual player development was more important than the outcome of the game, as the all important experience was injected into the playing careers of these ambitious men. The varsity team will need replacements and some better reserve strength for next season, and some of these could be forthcoming from the junior varsity. If just a few of the boys move up to the varsity next season, and prove valuable assets to the team, it will have proved that this junior varsity season was beneficial despite the record.
